BERLIN, November 11.—Deserters say Trochu will endeavor to regain prestige by another grand sortie.
LONDON, November 11.—The Germans have erected new batteries on the heights of Solway and at Montmagy, Bizous and Courbois.
A special from Brussels says it is believed in shrewd political circles that a new compromise, acceptable to France and Prussia, has been concluded by neutral powers. Russia initiated a new proposition for the assembling of a Congress of nations.
Tours, November 11.—Journals report Prussians killed and wounded around Orleans over 10,000, and 1,800 prisoners. The Prussians are retreating towards Chartres and Etampes. A large number of guns, thrown away by flying Prussians, were found. Italians continue to join Garibaldi in large numbers.
Gen. De Paladines, on re-occupying Orleans, issued the following congratulatory order to the officers and soldiers of the army of the Loire:
"The action of yesterday was a glorious one for our army. Every position of the enemy was vigorously carried, and the enemy is now retreating. I have informed the Government of your conduct, and am instructed to return to you their thanks for your victory amid the disasters in which France is plunged. Her eyes are upon you, and she counts upon your courage. Let us all make every effort, in order that this hope may not be mistaken. [Signed]
"DAURELLES DE PALADINES,
"Commander."
Tours, November 12.—The Government here don't consider the rupture of armistice negotiations final.
LONDON, November 12.—The Germans have occupied Brancourt and Etampes. Garibaldi, after the battle of Thursday, between Mont Belair and the Swiss border, marched with 12,000 men upon Belfort.
BERLIN, November 12.—The following is from the King to the Queen:
"VERSAILLES, November 11.—General Von Der Taun, yesterday, retired from Orleans to Tours, before a superior force. He fought the French, however, all day. He has already been reinforced by General Whittick and Prince Allerich. The Duke of Mecklenburg Schwerin will also join his forces with those of Vander Taun to-day."
LONDON, November 12.—The Prussians have plundered the little town of Aohy.
Tours, November 12.—Over 1,700 Prussian prisoners, captured at and near Orleans, passed through the city to-day, on their way to the South of France. There was great excitement among the people, and with much difficulty a riot was prevented, as there were hundreds of people along the line of march, who recognized among the prisoners those who had so outraged them at Chateau, Ween and other places. The prisoners were looted at, but by the efforts of the quieter part of the crowd, violence was prevented. Cheering reports are still received from the army of the Loire. There are rumors of great advantage gained yesterday. General Von der Taun's army, notwithstanding it has been reinforced by an entire army from Chartres, is in full retreat. Gambetta has gone to Orleans.
A special despatch to the World, from Tours, contains the following: Full details of the victory of Generals De Aurellis, Paladine, over General Von der Taun have not yet been received. The engagement commenced both at the East and West of Orleans on Wednesday, 9th instant, and was continued until the evening of Thursday. During Thursday, the French drove the Prussians from Orleans, inflicting severe loss on them, and they are now in occupation of the city. General Von der Taun, with the remnant of his army, is now retreating on the road leading from Orleans to Pethieviers, after vainly attempting to force his way through the Chateau Neuf and Montargis, where he hoped to join the army of Prince Frederick Charles. General De Aurellis has a force of 50,000 on the North bank of the Loire, and 70,000 on the South bank. The destruction of roads and bridges between Commerce and Orleans has prevented the advance of the army under Prince Frederick Charles. He has about 75,000 men, a great many of whom are probably North of Mann. After having disposed of the remnant of Gen. Von der Taun's army, General De Aurellis will march directly on Paris and assail the German lines between Versailles and St. Germain, while General Trochu makes a sortie out with 150,000 men, to cut his way out and raise the siege. Communication between General De Aurellis and General Trochu and the Government at Tours is constantly maintained, by means of carrier pigeons.
LONDON, November 12.—The French Admiral at Cuxhaven has restored the free navigation of the North and Baltic seas to the neutrals.
VERSAILLES, November 11, via London and Berlin.—General Von der Taun reports to headquarters here to-night, that there has been no further advance of the enemy in his front.
BERLIN, November 12.—Official reports of the capture of Verdun were published to-day. Two Generals, one staff officer and 150 line officers were captured; besides which 136 guns, 2,000 rifles, and a large amount of stores and ammunition, fell into the hands of the Prussians.
FLORENCE, November 12.—The completion of the Mont Cenis tunnel is promised in December.
LONDON, November 12.—The news of the bombardment of Hamburg is hourly expected. The battle of Orleans was very serious. The French line extended from Verdome to Beaugency.
Travel has been restored between Orleans and Bizon.
